

I recently heard that the Federal Communication Commission is considering overturning New Jersey's 'Do Not Call' law because it is more stringent than the federal program.

This note is to inform you that I absolutely do not think that New Jersey's ground breaking consumer protection laws should be weakened. I think I can safely speak for all of my friends and family when I say that we despise telemarketers interrupting our dinners, waking our young children in the evening, filling up our answering machines & caller ID's, and ruining our much needed Saturday morning sleep.

Please do not do anything to change the New Jersey telemarketing law. There are plenty of viable marketing alternatives for companies, most of which do not make you feel like you are under siege in your own home. In this day and age of little or no privacy, please have the decency to allow us our little pleasures and our peace.
